

Long Awaited San Francisco State Fair Opens Today!

By Vic Spingolo

Following months of detailed preparation, San Francisco State Fair gets under way today at 1 p.m. at the new campus, marking the dedication of that site as the new home of State College. Dedication ceremonies, led by President J. Paul Leonard and a group of visiting Hollywood celebrities, headed by Mala Powers, will be held tonight at 7:00, climaxing a day of festivities which will begin with the dismissal of all classes at noon.

The fair is open to the general public as well as to the entire student body. Admission to the fair grounds is free, and bus service to the new campus will be provided for students, beginning shortly after 12 o'clock.

Under the direction of Bill Hansen, activities commissioner, varied events have been scheduled throughout the day, starting with the opening of 20 carnival booths on the upper field at 1:00. Each of the booths will feature a different type of game, ranging, according to Christina Ziemann, booth coordinator, from tossing garters to ring the ankles of young ladies especially selected for the shapeliness of their lower limbs, to a fortune telling booth complete with State's mystery swami and a crystal ball. Prizes will be offered by all booths presenting competitive games or games of skill.

Campus groups which will be represented by booths include Sigma Delta Gamma, Recreation Society, Delta Phi Gamma, Alpha Omega, Phi Lambda Chi, Alpha Chi Alpha, California Student Teachers' Association, Alpha Chi Epsilon, Kappa Theta, Phi Ep Mu, Kappa Omega, Women's Athletic Association, Phi Ep Gamma, Bib 'n' Tucker, Newman Club, Beta Chi Delta, Beta Pi Sigma, International Relations Club, Radio Guild, Hillel, Stateside Magazine, Golden Gater Photography Staff, and the Faculty Wives Association.

The booth committee is made up of Joe Marchi, Mary Ann Earle, Harry Redlick, Tom Scholten, Willy Malmberg, Rosemary Malone, Pat Foster and Bill Watson.

An hour long Variety Show, offering the finest student talent at State, will be presented twice during the day at 1:30 and 7:40 p.m. Mala Powers, singer Connie Hilton and Jerry Vanek will appear in conjunction with the show.

Angelo Rodriguez will act as master of ceremonies for the program, which will include the Faculty Quartet.

Sack races and pie eating contests will

Deferment Policy For ROTC Program

By Richard Larrick
(Second of a series on State's ROTC Program.)

As for the deferment policy in connection with the program, selected students between the ages of 18 and 26 stand a good chance of finishing their scholastic careers before entering military service. Once enrolled in a degree granting course of study, any student may be postponed from induction under the Selective Service System through the current school year. In addition, students taking ROTC instruction may receive further deferment under certain conditions.

In simplified form it amounts to this: The ROTC student who stands highest academically and meets certain other requirements is virtually assured deferment from military service until completion of his college education. Some time toward the end of the freshman year, he may be selected for deferment and be permitted to

Dorothy Wells Appointed as New Dean of Women

Four New Instructors To Be Hired in Fall

The Dean of Women's position is to be vacated as a result of Dean Mary Ward's resignation, and will be assumed by Miss Dorothy Wells, a graduate of the University of California, in the fall, President Leonard has revealed.

Miss Wells has a varied background of experience. She received her M.A. at the Columbia University Teachers' College, New York, and will receive her doctorate in education in June. Miss Wells has taught at the Hoover High School in Glendale, California, and at University High School in Oakland, in the field of biology and physical education. Besides considerable teaching experience, Miss Wells also had experience in the business world as a manager of a co-op store in Orangeburg, New York. As a Wave Lt. in the USNR she also worked in the administrative department, working with young women in the Navy. At the City College of New York Miss Wells worked as assistant dean of administration.

FACULTY ADDITIONS

Other new additions to the faculty staff for the fall semester are Robert Parks, who received his A.B. at the University of Denver. He also received his master's and Ph.D. there. Mr. Parks will teach clinical psychology and psychology 5b classes.

Albert Lepore, a graduate of San Diego State College, will teach in the ed-psych. department. Mr. Lepore attended the Teachers' College at Columbia University.

Richard Savage will assume a teaching position in the industrial arts division. He received his industrial arts diploma at Gorham Normal School in Maine, and received his M.A. at the Columbia University Teachers' College. Mr. Savage has taught in junior high schools, high schools and colleges.

Eleanor Skimin will teach business education in the fall. She received her A.B. and Master's in education at the University of Detroit, and has considerable experience in education, working with the Waves during the war as civilian head of instruction, and setting up business training for the public schools in Panama.

Universal Card Bill Defeated By 4-3 Vote

CAA Recommends Probation For Five Organizations

Non-Attendance at One Meet Brings Suspension

This week the Club Advisory Association again took action against non-attending organizations and voted to recommend to the Board of Directors that Kappa Delta Pi, Music Federation, Block S, Christian Agatheans and Mental Hygiene Society be suspended from on-campus standing this semester and that they be placed on probation all next semester.

Any of these organizations missing one meeting next semester will immediately result in CAA recommending the suspension of on-campus standing for any or all of the organizations involved.

Kappa Delta Pi and the Music Federation were placed on probation at the last meeting of CAA, but failed to attend the recent meeting and thus will have suspension recommended.

President Ed Little asked Art Chaboya, vice-president of the Associated Students and liaison officer between CAA and the board, to take the recommendations of CAA back to the board.

The constitution of Honor S, United Language Club and Sigma Beta Music Club were presented by the constitution committee and accepted by CAA. They will now go to the Board of Directors.

Radio Meeting May 25

San Francisco State College will hold the "First San Francisco State College Radio Industry Workshop" at the college on May 25, 1951, at 3 p.m.

Donnelly Leads Opposition Group in Committee Hearing

The Universal Student Body Card Bill was defeated by a Senate committee in Sacramento last Friday by a vote of 4 to 3. Robert Katz, State College's administrator of student affairs, reported today that the major opposition came from Senator Hugh P. Donnelly (Dem.) Stanislaus County, who opposed the bill on the grounds that these functions should be conducted by and paid for by the state and given to the students free.

DRAFT REPRIEVE

The May 15 deadline for the filing of application cards for the selective service deferment tests has been extended ten days to May 25. All applications must be in the hands of Educational Testing Service by that date.

Students who failed to mail their application blanks in time for the previous deadline should if they haven't already, apply for their cards at their local draft boards immediately. The tests are scheduled for May 26, June 16 and June 30. Since these dates all fall on Saturdays, a special testing period has been added for Thursday, July 12, for those whose religious beliefs prevent their taking their tests on the weekend dates.

Marine Program Explained Mond'y

Major J. G. Juett, U. S. Marine Corps procurement officer for northern California, will visit San Francisco State on Monday, May 21, to interview students interested in earning a regular or reserve commission in the Marines.

Students at the new campus will be interviewed by Major Juett in the new athletic building there. Sergeant Francis W. Kent will be located on this campus in front of the registrar's office in College Hall.

The Marine Corps offers three programs by which commissions may be earned, a platoon leaders class, an officer's candidate course for men, and a similar program for women.

The platoon leaders class is designed to enable undergraduates to work toward a Marine Corps commission while continuing their college program. Students enrolled in this group are not subject to the selective service draft call, and may withdraw from the Marine Corps program upon request.

Final Faculty Fun Night May 22

The last faculty fun night of the spring semester will be held this Tuesday, May 22, in the new campus gym. All teaching and non-teaching staff are invited to come and join the festivities.

From 7:30 to 9 there will be folk dancing and badminton. Soft-soled shoes are required for participation in those two activities. For those who are less athletic, there will be canasta, bridge, chess and checkers. The swimming facilities will be open from 9 to 10. Women will be required to wear swimming caps.

Mrs. Polly Glycer of the Recreation Department is in charge of the organization of the fun night doings.

"This would impose an unfair burden on the taxpayers when the students who benefit are willing to assume it," retaliated Katz. "Also, it would mean the end of student government as we know it," he added.

Present at the Senate Education Committee meeting on Thursday, May 10, along with Bob Katz, were Jack Healy, State College student body treasurer; Burk Farola, student body president; Pat Gilkeson, member-at-large on the Board of Directors, and representatives from San Jose State, San Diego State, Los Angeles State, Sacramento State, Chico State, and Fresno State Colleges.

Everyone seemed very optimistic that the card would be passed, Katz revealed. Several representatives had contacted members of the state legislature and gathered much favorable support. The Director of Education, Dr. Roy E. Simpson, said that the department wouldn't oppose the amended bill, and that left no organized opposition. Senator Donnelly, however, rallied sufficient personal support to persuade three members to vote against the bill.

Those voting for the universal card were Senators Byrne (Butte County), Gibson (Solano County) and Way (Humboldt County). Those opposing were Senator Coombs, from Napa County; Senator Dorsey, Kern County; Senator Miller, Contra Costa County; and Senator Donnelly. Two senators, Tenney and Dilworth, who were sure "yes" votes, Katz stated, did not attend the meeting.

The effect of this defeat will be that the bill will be held in committee and will die there unless it is brought up again. If it is resurrected, it will require five votes to either kill or pass it.

Katz and other universal card advocates intend to introduce the companion bill on the assembly floor next week. From there, if passed, it will go to the senate for rehearing.

An Editorial

Stairway to Disaster

Last Monday, William Small, a visitor to the campus, broke his arm as he left the Laguna Street entrance at the Men's Training Quarters. Mr. Small, who was to go to India on a good will tour this summer, will be sidelined for six months.

It is unfortunate that this accident had to happen so that the college authorities would realize the dangers existing in the Men's Training Quarters. In fact, it is amazing that no one had been injured prior to Mr. Small's accident.

The Laguna Street entrance consists of two regulation doors. Upon opening the doors there is a three-foot drop. No stairs. That is how Mr. Small broke his arm.

This dangerous entrance isn't the only hazard in the Men's Training Quarters. Since gym classes are still being held, the regular entrance is not available to women students. They must go through a special entrance located in the lower field adjacent to the door leading to Frederic Burk auditorium.

Steep stairs, inadequate lights and faulty railings lead one to an atmosphere of the days of dungeons... and broken bones.

There are many other hazards in this area. For instance, lumber with nails sticking out are all over the floor; the lighting is bad; there is no heat and there is no fresh air.

Let us hope that Mr. Small's accident will awaken the proper authorities to the realization that something must be done before someone is injured more seriously, maybe fatally.

Axelrod Keynote Speaker At San Diego State Confab

Dr. Joseph Axelrod, associate professor of English, was invited to be the keynote speaker at the San Diego Institute of General Education last Monday.

Speaking at the general session scheduled at 9 that morning, Dr. Axelrod outlined the important problems of a general education program and its objectives. On the following day, he remained on the campus to meet with divisional and departmental chairmen.

Dr. Axelrod had had four different experiences with general education programs. While a student at the University of Chicago, he studied under the so-called "Hutchins Plan," one of the pioneer programs.

He then taught at the Chicago City College, where a similar plan was in operation. Returning to the University of Chicago as a faculty member, he participated in a general education program, which was considerably revised from its predecessor, the "Hutchins Plan."

This is the third such institution that has been held at San Diego State. Preparations are being made to enact a curriculum of general education at that campus in the near future.

Gustafson IRC President

Roy Gustafson was elected president of the International Relations Club last week. Kamal Nadar, election committee chairman, disclosed. Gustafson defeated Ken Azbill.

Other IRC officers are Ann McCulloch, vice president; Anne Brooke, recording secretary; Bob Sitzman, corresponding secretary; and Bob Lathrop, treasurer.

Joseph White defeated Marjorie Weiss for representative at the Student World Affairs Council, 12-11, but it was decided that both should represent the organization. Fred Hodel was named editor

SCHOLARSHIPS

Clubs, Faculty Quartet Offer Aid

Several of the service clubs and organizations on and off campus are offering scholarships consisting of tuition or tuition and a student body card. These scholarships are offered to women who are above the low freshman standing.

The scholarships are awarded on the basis of financial need, satisfactory scholarship and the evidence of interest in student activities. Women of the college may secure application forms in the office of the dean of women.

One $300 scholarship is offered by the Parent-Teacher Association for those students who are interested in elementary teaching. They will be awarded on the basis of character, financial need, evidence of possible success in teaching and for a promise to teach one year in California elementary school in return for the scholarship received.

One hundred and fifty dollars is to be given at the opening of the fall semester and $150 at the opening of the spring semester. Application can be obtained at the office of Mrs. Grace Leathurby and the dean of women.

In addition to emergency loan funds, several long term loans will be awarded this spring. The first award is the James Denman Alumnae Scholarship loan fund for $100. The loan may be obtained from this fund on the following conditions: (1) only awarded to a woman who has graduated from a high school in San Francisco, (2) applicants must be in the junior or senior year, (3) financial need, (4) satisfactory scholarship record and (5) an approved co-signer for the promissory note.

The note is payable after graduation within two years or less. Also awarded is the Kathleen Eleanor Dunbar Memorial Loan Fund, which is offered to men or women preparing to be laboratory technicians in order to assist the student with the expenses connected with their field work and hospital expenses. Applications are available in the dean of women's office.

A $100 loan from the Emily Ray Memorial Scholarship Fund can be obtained by junior or seniors that meet the following requirements: (1) financial need, (2) satisfactory scholarship, and (3) an approved co-signer for the promissory note. It is repayable within two years or less after graduation.

A new scholarship of $200 is offered this year by the Faculty Quartet, composed of Harold L. Hollingsworth, Somerville Thompson, William E. Knuth and Roy E. Freeburg. All students are familiar with their appearances at activities on and off campus.

The first scholarship of this type will be awarded for the fall of 1951. Candidates eligible are any students who have completed one year of residence at State who show talent in their specific field and are capable of maintaining a high academic standing.

Because the Faculty Quartet does not wish to penalize any student who has the ability to maintain high grade standards and yet has been prevented from doing so because of necessary outside work, no definite grade point limitation has been established. However, aptitude and intelligence tests will be given to those students who are eligible in all other respects but academic standing in order to determine whether or not the candidate really has ability. The final award will be made on or before June 8. Application forms should be submitted immediately to either Dean Ward or Dean Bergstresser.

The scholarship is open to all students.

Compton High School Wins Pacific Forensic Tourney

Compton High School of Compton, California, amassed a total of 409 points to dominate last week's Pacific Forensic Tourney held here at San Francisco State College.

The school with the second highest number of points was Lodi High School of Lodi, California, with 274 points. Trophies were also awarded to the individual students with the most points in the events and the speaker winning this recognition was Carey McWilliams, who amassed 75 points.

Awards were also made to the winners of the individual events. The winner of the oratory event was Paul Hine of Compton High School. Carey McWilliams of the Merced High School and Dolores Heib of Lodi Union High School, also won mention in this event. In the extempore classification Dale Amicker of Fresno High School won first place, with John Heilbron of Lowell High School of San Francisco and Luis Corman of Tracy High School as runners-up.

Another phase of the tourney was radio broadcasting, and the Grand Pacific winner was Eddie Bridge of Clovis High School, of Clovis. Runners up were Robert Vanderveen of Oakland High School and Louis Corman of Tracy High School. Leland Levy of Lowell High School of San Francisco won first place in the after dinner speaking event, and Bud Sullivan of Lodi High School and Erika Jergens of Compton High School also scored highly.

In the progression discussion the first place winner was Forrest Phillips of St. Ignatius of San Francisco who won 29 out of 30 points awarded in that section.

This year the Pacific Forensic Tourney drew the largest attendance, with 26 high schools represented and 150 students entered in a total of 270 events. The tourney was not only successful in the number attending, but it also grossed $369.95, and their net profit was a little over $50. Mr. Robert Preble, the director of the tourney, said: "I wish to express my thanks to all the fine people working with me for their help and co-operation."

Working with Preble was Stephan Lagudas, assistant director; Ann Minniker, Don Kitcher, Jess Hernandez, David McElhatton and the sponsor, Miss Bernice Prince.

The Pacific Forensic Tourney drew to a successful close by being climaxed by a dinner last Saturday. Dr. Butler made the trophy presentations at the dinner and explained to the contestants the value of their experiences of participating in the tourney.

Who owns big business anyway?

1. Many people, including the Russian delegates to the United Nations, don't seem to understand who owns America's corporations. They continually talk about "Big Business" and "Wall Street Capitalists" as if our big companies were owned and run by a handful of "economic royalists."

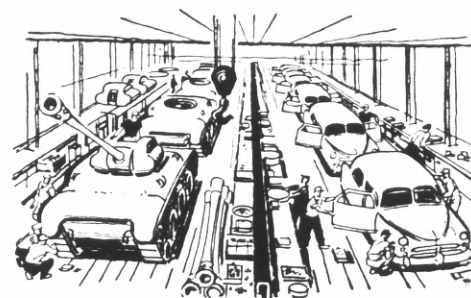

2. As a matter of fact, practically all large American corporations are owned and run by the American people. Union Oil Company, for example, has more than 36,000 stockholders—owners. 33,613 of our common stockholders are individuals—15,528 women and 18,085 men. The remainder consist of some 2,500 educational, religious and charitable institutions, labor unions, insurance and trust companies.

3. Approximately half of Union Oil's common stock is owned by stockholders who have 500 shares or less. Average shares per stockholder is 146. Naturally there are many larger holdings than this and many smaller, but our largest stockholder owns only 2 1/4% of the total stock. Our directors and officers combined own 2 1/4%.

4. In other words, Union Oil Company is owned not by a few dozen millionaires but by many thousands of ordinary Americans. And this is true of practically every large U.S. corporation.* So when the Communists argue that their system would allow the American "people" to "own" their industries, they're whistling up the wrong drainpipe. The American people own their industries already.

5. The big difference is that our system provides the incentives to the individual, the competition and the efficiency that go with private ownership. Consequently, our industries are able to outproduce, outprogress and outdo the Communists' by a country mile. And our people are free to spend their money, put it in the bank, invest it in stocks or bury it in the back yard—whichever they darn well please.

*More than 15 million Americans own stock in some U.S. corporation. In addition to these, everyone who has a life insurance policy will find some of his "cash value" invested in corporations. So, altogether, probably 8 out of 10 American families have a direct or indirect stake in U.S. corporations.

SPRING has at last hit San Francisco State, but at a rather inopportune moment. With finals only pages away, the adjustment to Spring is too great an issue to face bravely. Most Staters have reached the decisive conclusion that "it shouldn't be fought." Patches of grass are far and few between on our miniature campus, but wise utilization is made of every available inch.

Stateside Magazine Offers Variety of Literary Work

By Dick Larrick

The old adage, "Too many cooks spoil the soup," didn't hold true in the least as far as the college's newest creative brain child, Stateside Magazine, is concerned.

With a staff of 25, the Journalism 103 class has produced a really professional product both in content and from a journalistic standpoint.

The most interesting by far to you, the reader, would be the content, and after browsing through it I can truthfully say it will hold the attention of everyone from the intellectual to the just-plain-Bill type.

BELLY-LAUGH

For those of you who like fiction the staff has included everything from psychological real-life stuff to good old belly-laugh humor. One of the outstanding stories is an allegory entitled "Legend of the Long Fingers," written by Gloria Alford. That's all I'll say on that subject before I go too far and let the cat out of the bag.

Anyone who appreciates satire will enjoy a piece entitled "As I Lay Across the River," by Dan and Eva Langton (a la Hemingway). Just the title is enough to wet the reading appetite.

The people with minds that are fed on facts will be intrigued by such articles as "Student From Nigeria," which might well have been in the Saturday Evening Post. It concerns a student here who traveled over 6000 miles to get an education at State.

FIFTY?

For the scientific mind a story was written about the father of 50 Siamese Twins. It will take more than a scientific mind to figure this one out.

Included in the magazine are several articles that will make it worth while saving as a reference book and something to remember the college by. Everyone should know something about a subject as important as the loyalty oath battle. Bob Donovan does a strictly objective job of giving the history of the event plus the pros and cons, while Toni Robinson gives a vivid description of the plans and accomplishments at the new campus.

A LOT OF VARIETY

Along with a lot of fine writing the reader will find senior and organization pictures, illustrations, cartoons, sports articles, and a lot of jokes, guaranteed, so I've found out, to cause a yuck.

Wrap all this up in a bright and cheery cover designed by commercial artist Stan Keeney and you have a package that will give many hours of enjoyment.

An interesting aspect of the magazine is the fact that it was produced by the comparatively new method of photo-lithography. In this process a printing plate is made of all 160 pages instead of using type.

When I asked the editors what they thought was outstanding about the magazine, they answered in unison: "The buyer will get his money's worth." In this day and age that's the best recommendation any article can have.

Arnesen Lectures In Mexico City

Dr. Elias T. Arnesen, chairman of the Humanities Division, has been invited to participate on the faculty of Mexico City College during their summer session, starting June 19.

He will teach a course in semantics and a course in Twentieth Century American Fiction. The summer session will last until August 24.

Dr. and Mrs. Arnesen plan to motor to the capital of Mexico immediately after the spring semester at State and will travel on the Pan-American Highway.

After the end of the summer semester, they plan to remain in Mexico City for nearly a month visiting archeology sites, craft centers and other points of interest.

Dr. Arnesen's only other visit to Mexico was in 1914, when he was a member of the United States Marine Corps aboard a battle cruiser.

LOOKING 'EM OVER--

Campus Ramblings

By Bonnie Rolphe

After practicing the art of full-fledged procrastination for some four months, they tell me that there is only a week and a half left to manufacture term paper masterpieces, trek all over the city to gather material for Ed. 100 projects, and prepare for the final exam orgy.

My only consolation is that on a personal survey, I discovered that the average student is my fellow companion in woe. Besides hitting the books in the limited time remaining, banquets, initiations, and general farewell parties are on the agenda. As one who always looks to the future, summer has its brighter side, I hope.

Today at 12 o'clock Staters adjourn from the class room and abandon the books and pencils to indulge in some diversion in the form of the State Fair at the new campus.

Alpha Omega has contracted with a professional fortune teller to tell the college mass what the future holds for them.

Bib 'n' Tucker's booth "Puff Puff" should furnish a challenge for the more sporty. And Sigma Delta Gamma's booth should appeal to the gamblers in the crowd, too.

Beta Chi Delta's booth is a mystery. That is, it's a mystery booth.

I guess if you'd ask Court Pontious about the Delta Gamma Tau booth, he might say it's somewhat of a mystery, too. It'll undoubtedly be out of this world. Maybe they'll even offer a reward for anyone who can find it.

Alpha Chi Alpha had a Mothers' Luncheon last Sunday, and they will have their pledge initiation weekend this weekend. The affair will take place at Stinson Beach.

Kappa Omega is throwing a party Saturday night. They're going to finish off some of their left over refreshments from the KO dance!

Next Saturday night the Senior Ball will take place at the Fairmont Hotel and dancing will be to Dick Foy's music.

Bib 'n' Tucker is planning a picnic affair at Forest Farm in Marin county Sunday.

The Alumni Picnic will be held at the new campus Sunday.

Tony Bonaccorso of Alpha Zeta Sigma fraternity and Irene Olsen just announced their engagement.

Virginia and Norm Mendonca are now Mommie and Daddy with the arrival of a baby boy, 5½ pounder.

Valerie Nalducci and Frank Klung also announced their engagement recently.

Twenty-five dollars worth of negligence has been chalked up for the associated students so far this term by the giving of wrong change in the sale of street car tickets.

Maybe if we had a paid worker who knew that five and five were ten, we could not only put that $25 to some use, but also take some of the pressure off the members of the board. Maybe the moral of this story is, if you want to make some easy money, go buy a car ticket.

In my ramblings about campus I have become acquainted with some wonderful friends. Seeing these people practically every day we often converse on such timely subjects as the weather and the other momentous forces which confront the everyday population.

The other day as I talked to the man in the boiler room, the gardener and the janitors, I learned that though they lead a life of partial obscurity in our school, they don't hesitate for a moment to chip in and give with the "moolah" if a farewell gift for Dean Ward is the problem at hand. They are a real part of State!

THEODORE TREUTLEIN'S POSTCARD

From Old Vienna

Vienna, 8 May, 1951

Postcard: "May Day and the Presidential Election."

May Day, the traditional day of the worker, was more than a Labor Day in Austria this year. This was because Austria is electing a president in the first free election since the 1930's. The parading began the night of 30th April, with the customary torchlight procession of the Socialist Party. The parade moved along the Ring, the wide boulevard which encompasses the inner city, to the New Rathaus, where the marchers heard an address by Mayor Theodor Koerner, who is also the Socialist Party candidate for president. It took over two hours for the procession to pass the Bristol Hotel, where I live, and from which I had a fine view of the masses of people lining the boulevard and of the marchers themselves.

The torchlight procession and the two-hour long Socialist and a three-hour long Communist parades on May Day were undistinguished for anything but the large numbers of people involved. The people walked and strolled rather than marched; there were few really striking banners; and only one float. The bands and trumpet corps which appeared from time to time made rather unmusical noises. The Communists added the only sparkle to the whole affair, in my opinion, by shouting: "Soldiers, go home! Army, go home!" as they passed before the Bristol. I am sorry that I don't know what they shouted as they passed the Grand Hotel and the Hotel Imperial down the street (occupied by the Russians), but I'm sure it wasn't "Army, go home!"

The barber at the Bristol, who is living in the "good old days" of the Empire turned up on 2 May with a beautiful tan. Between his anecdotes about how he had cut the hair of kings, diplomats and musicians (including Rachmaninoff) he revealed that HE had spent May Day in the Vienna Woods. His world is gone and will never return, and he admits it, so a day in the woods probably did him more good than a two-hour march.

On Sunday, 6 May, the people went to the schools to cast their ballots—voting is compulsory. Sunday night when I returned from a magnificent performance of "Rosenkavalier" the reports were coming in, and by Monday we had the whole story. People's Party candidate Dr. Heinrich Gleissner led with 1,725,695 (a loss of 120,886 compared with the 1949 Parliamentary elections); next came the Socialist Koerner, 1,682,768 (gain of 59,244); then Prof. Burghard Breitner, backed by the League of Independents, with 662,559 (gain of 175,286); and Gottlieb Fiala, Communist candidate, 220,012 (gain of 6,946). Since no one captured an absolute majority, there will have to be a runoff vote within 35 days. Everybody expected this, and everybody expects Gleissner to be the ultimate victor. He is backed by the countryside, mainly Catholic, and by the moderate to rightist groups (successor to the old Christian Social Party). Breitner's group can thus be expected to have an increasing influence in the coalition government which will have to continue. Breitner is sometimes referred to as a "neo-Nazi"—this is misleading, but he is definitely a rightist. The Communists make a show of strength in their parades, but are actually quite weak.

Sincerely,
T. E. TREUTLEIN.

A LOOK AT...

State's Side

By MARV COHN, Sports Editor

A good five-cent cigar isn't all that this fair institution of higher learning needs.

Nope, in these troubled days of hucksters and Hadacol, what we need is a full-fledged, rip-snortin' publicity man. A guy that will sell State to the outsiders, the heathen unbelievers.

When State dropped out of Far Western Conference competition, it was a step toward higher things in the realm of athletics. But dropping out alone isn't enough. Ya gotta let someone know about it.

A full time publicity man for the college could do a lot for the school. Take the State Fair for example. A few lines of haphazard publicity was lucky enough to be sent out to the various sources of news dissemination. And most of it was distributed too late to do much real good.

The University of California (that's a school over in Berkeley) is having what it calls its "Circus" this week-end. Over two weeks ago they started sending out news releases and pre-writes. And they sent them out to just about everywhere, too. We saw a copy of Lowell High School's paper the other day, and in it was a "come to the Cal Circus" story.

Naturally, State, being limited as it is, can't expect to compete with Cal in many ways. But we should be able to send out as much publicity.

Dr. George Gibson, director of public relations, does the best job he can, but he and his staff of part time workers have too many other duties to do the job justice.

The overburdened staff that the school has, now sends out long stories and press releases to the dailies, but when they get there the editors sometimes like to play pirate. Using a pair of scissors instead of a sword, they slash the copy to its barest essentials. Then it's so short, it has to be a filler. They wouldn't do this to copy from a well known pub man.

A full time publicity man for just sports is too much to hope for, at least at the present time. Of course, the big schools have 'em. Al Masters has handled it for much time down at Stanford, and when Norrie West left Cal last month they got a new man right away. They wouldn't be without one.

Here, the athletic publicity job is handled by a fellow named Joe Verducci. Mr. Verducci also fills in as football coach and director of athletics. These jobs, we understand, take a little time away from his publicity work.

A publicity man who is even fairly well known in the journalistic circles, and who has some connections with the daily news sheets, is almost indispensable to an up 'n' coming school. If the scores of some of State's basketball and football games were used by the dailies for anything more than "fillers," our fame would spread with much more rapidity.

Imagine having the story of a State ball game printed at the top of the sports page of a big paper. Maybe some day a State story will be given more play than a San Jose State story. San Jose State, by the way, is just like us—another state college. But THEY have a first class, full-time publicity man.

Out at the New Campus today, there'll be some kind of athletic fare to suit practically all tastes. For those who prefer beauty in their sport, on hand will be the swim show featuring Dr. Sammy Lee and Bruce Harlan. If ya go for the more rugged type of entertainment, there's the intramural wrestling championships. For fast action, have a look-see at the mural track finals. All this and the State Fair, too.

Athletic Council Meeting Monday

There will be a meeting of the Athletic Council this Monday at 12:30 at the men's gym at the new campus.

Official representatives of the intercollegiate teams of the past term will meet to vote on awards to be given this season.

The blocks and awards will be given out at a rally next Thursday.

East Bay Athletic Club Dominates Intramural Field

Team Sets Impressive Records Since 1948

By Frank Galo

East Bay Athletic Club, the only State team to defeat a City College of San Francisco intramural basketball club in the recent inter-college meet, has always been a powerhouse in Gator intramural history.

The club was first organized in the spring of 1948 and has competed in every intramural activity since. In their very first intramural venture, the East Bay boys succeeded in taking second in the softball tournament.

By virtue of a 7-0 win over Kappa Theta, East Bay AC won the intramural football championship in 1949 going undefeated with the exception of a scoreless tie with Art Chaboya's Kappa Omega. Only one team scored against East Bay AC and that was Balboa Alumni Athletic Club two year champions from City College in the season opener.

Ken Perry who practically dominated every intramural field, brought further glory to Jerry Shelton's hustling outfit by being awarded a trophy for being the intramural player of the year. The team also copped the All-Sports trophy in 1949.

Last year they continued their winning ways by taking the softball championship, and barely lost out to Alpha Zeta Sigma for the All-Sports trophy.

This semester the club is fielding two teams. In the unlimited league East Bay AC is headed by such standouts as Bob Walker, Chuck Crawford, Ken Perry, Al Desin, Henry Nicolini, Don Lowart and Norm Matson. Their top achievement on the road to the championship was a victory over Sunset AC headed by fabulous Kevin Duggan.

The noon time league club, which rolled on undefeated, was composed of Henry Nicolini, Dennis Hujardo, George Maginarus, Don Lowart, George Fabian, Jerry Shelton, Milton Castleberry, Hal Jourgeson and Chris Natsues. At this date East Bay AC is well on its way to further glory.

BLOCK S RALLY

The Block S, under President Dick Coltrell, will present its semi-annual award rally next Thursday, Bill Harkness, director of intramurals, announced.

Members of the track, golf, swimming, baseball, boxing, basketball, tennis and wrestling teams will be awarded Block S's. Circle S blocks will go to the junior varsity teams.

Harkness will issue the intramural awards as well as giving out trophies to the outstanding intramural team and to the outstanding intramural athlete.

At 2:30 the finals of the intramural wrestling and two exhibition boxing matches will start in the men's gym. Featured in the boxing matches will be Sam Bombiani of St. Mary's and John Bettencourt of San Francisco City College. John Fawcett will meet his boxing team mate, John Bohman.

The field events will be regulation with the exception of the javelin throw, which will be replaced by the football throw.
